

E-Learning Portal

Moodle

If you are a Small Business, group or individual, or educator looking to move your staff training online, Moodle is the ideal tool for doing this. Flexible, future proof and a dynamic LMS, Then contact E-TeachUK. We can advise you on the best approach to setting up your on-line learning . We off the following Introductory package:-

Introductory

Light user set up (30 trainees or less), hosting set up with the most up to date version of Moodle, domain name creation if required, safe secure share server, unlimited data, unlimited users and 99% uptime. With this we will set up the basic course structure, basic themes and provide a 2 hour face to face or on-line induction course to get you started in populating your site.

For costing please contact use for free advice and consultation.

Moodle, what is it?

Moodle has been around since 2001. There are over 85,000 registered sites and almost 80 million users it is used in 240 countries.

Advantages for on-line training

One big advantage for Moodle is that it is widely used and has been around for years. Training software come and go. This year's favourite may be out of business next year. It is software that will probably be around for years to come. "One thing I really like about Moodle is that you can link all the online sites and lessons, etc., if we so choose. Using Moodle for training has the potential to add a lot of useful content in a scheduled way that might not be possible otherwise." Moodle User

In the traditional use of Moodle for training the trainer can set up a wide range of Activities, setting up full in-depth lessons and other Activities eg quizzes, complete with full details.

Contact:-

Mark on 07930609383

Email:- e-teachuk@hotmail.co.uk

What can Moodle provide?

- 1) A detailed schedule (even for the whole year)
- 2) Deliver online content (videos, webpages, worksheets) all in one place.
- 3) Record the student's activity and progress.
- 4) Exposure to the system that most colleges use for their online content delivery.

"Moodle helps manage, monitor and track the educational progress of training. With its versatile plug-ins, possibilities are endless."